01 Advertising Information Counselling Australia Journal

The Counselling Australia (CA) Journal is a vibrant, peer-reviewed journal operated by Australia's largest peak body for counselling and psychotherapy. It features a wide range of articles, book reviews, editorials and provides readers with a wealth of information. National circulation to 12,000+ members, produced quarterly with an estimated readership base of over 16,000.

CA has a significant influence on the industry and has grown in readership and subscription base consistently since its inception. CA's target market consists primarily of several key segments; ACA Members, Students; Training Providers/Universities (TAFE, Registered training providers - Vocational & Higher Education Providers, Private & Government training providers) and other Allied Health Professionals that include psychotherapists, psychologists, social workers, nurses, teachers and many other mental health professionals.

ACA's 8,000 + members consist of Counsellors/Psychotherapists who work in broad settings of employment platforms such as private practice, aged care facilities, government agencies, nongovernment organisations, GP clinics, correctional service facilities and elsewhere. In addition to this, other professionals also subscribe to the journal which includes teachers, nurses, police officers, lecturers, and a range of others. These members and professionals also request professional material in relation to ongoing professional development and information relevant to their counselling specialties, e.g., relationship, grief, trauma, financial, career, gerontology, legal services (particularly family law), etc.

Deadline: The journal is published quarterly in March, June, September and December. All advertising needs to be submitted by no later than the 20th December, 25th March, 25th June and 25th September.
