

Are you currently participating in clinical supervision?

This is an opportunity for you to contribute to the validation of a new supervision competency tool.

CONTACT RESEARCHER

Sarah Hamilton
PhD Candidate
Griffith University
Sarah.hamilton@griffithuni.edu.au
Phone: 0415559065

RESEARCH SUPERVISORS

Associate Professor
Lynne Briggs
School of Human Services
and Social Work
Griffith University

Professor Analise
O'Donovan
School of Applied
Psychology

Dr Maddy Slattery
School of Human Services
and Social Work
Griffith University

ETHICS

Griffith Research Ethics (07)
37354375 or Metro South Health
Ethics (07) 34438047

Research Outline

We are conducting the final confirmatory study in a research project that aims to further validate the Generic Supervision Assessment Tool (GSAT). We invite you to participate in this research to help us to understand how the quality of clinical supervision practice can be assessed using this tool.

Who Can Participate?

Individuals who currently participate in regular individual clinical supervision as supervisors and/or supervisees. We hope to enlist an equal number of supervisors and supervisees in the study. Participants can go in the draw to win one of two $200 Visa gift cards.

How Can You Participate?

Study 3: Supervisors and supervisees complete the GSAT, demographic information, and brief supervision rating scales that focus on supervision and perceptions of supervisors' skills. This online survey should take approximately 20-30 minutes to complete.

Survey links:

Supervisee <https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/GSAT-SE>

Supervisor <https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/GSAT-SR>